

Swegon Air Academy in cooperation with REHVA

The Swegon Air Academy has received a more explicit responsibility to keep up the Swegon contacts with REHVA, Federation of European Heating and Air-conditioning Associations. Being well-informed about new European directives, new ideas and technologies, making it possible to deal with strengthened energy saving demands is a prior interest for Swegon Air Academy. This is an absolute condition to be able to spread the knowledge about indoor climate, energy management and sustainability – the core idea of Swegon Air Academy.

Swegon Air Academy workshop at Clima 2010 in Antalya, Turkey

At the Clima 2010 conference in Antalya in Turkey in May 2010, the Swegon Air Academy will manage a workshop on Demand Controlled Ventilation. Tough demands for reduced energy use in buildings, puts the attention to the possibilities with air-flow, adapted to the real need. The workshop will focus on technical solutions, economic factors and limitations – if there are any.

Green building – Passive house – Breeam – LEED – Part L etc.

There are a lot of different “sustainability labels”, claiming they are the one and only. The total lack of collected knowledge about what is what and the differences between the many “brands”, have started to interest us, working with the Swegon Air Academy. There is an obvious need for explanation – and who should do that if not the Swegon Air Academy? The work has started but it is too early to guess when it can be ready and in which shape it will be published, but it is in the pipe-line...

Simply EPBD – now even in Swedish

The latest book from Swegon Air Academy – “Simply EPBD” – is now available also in Swedish, but not in printed format. The Swedish version is available in pdf-format from the Swegon Air Academy website:

www.swegonairacademy.com

Building the network...

The Swegon Air Academy is a continuously growing network of professionals and people, interested in sustainability, indoor environment quality and energy management. With the "new and fresh" SAA project manager Mr John Woollett, the network building speed has increased dramatically. Our network of speakers and writers, experts from different universities, companies and organisations have widened in a very positive way, making it possible to find suitable speakers and authors for all different subjects.

Even the Swegon Air Academy member network is growing and we are today around 1000 members from 54 countries. Our ambition is to make the membership more valuable to you as a member – not just receiving a newsletter twice a year and an invitation to our seminars. The next step will be an improved website and a more active dialogue with our members. This work has hardly started yet, but we will keep you informed!

All information about Swegon Air Academy seminars is available on our website, well in advance before the seminar date.

Application for the seminars can also be done at the website.

Welcome with your application!

2009 – Another successful seminar year!

Even if the business climate has been a lot tougher this year than previous year, the Swegon Air Academy has been able to continue almost on the same level as before. During 2009 we have performed 32 seminars in 15 countries and we have met about 2000 important contacts during the seminars. Now we look forward to next year. Already there are about 20 seminars planned, which is some kind of new record this time of the year.

The Swegon Air Academy team wishes all our members, friends and supporters
A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Conny Nilsson

Rut Folke

John Woollett